

Our thinking is that the Adjusts on the entry into the Fuel, Air, and Ignition States can be 0 (as in there is no adjustment needed), but that the Adjust that goes from the state to itself needs a non-zero parameter (as in, there is some adjustment taking place)

